What we do

The National Parks Association of Queensland (NPAQ) is dedicated to promoting the protection, expansion and good management of national parks and protected areas in Queensland.

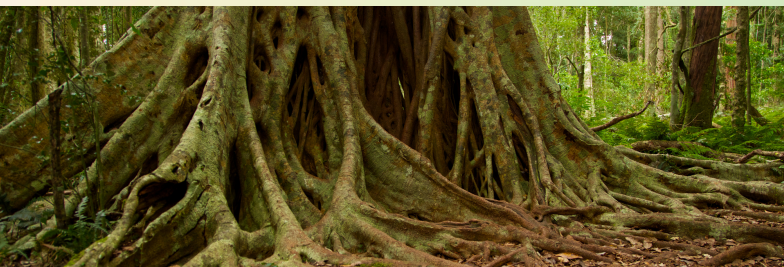

Established in 1930, NPAQ is an independent not-for-profit, membership based organisation.

As one of the first conservations organisations in Queensland, and the longest running National Parks Association in Australia, NPAQ had played a pivotal role in the establishment of many national parks in Queensland. The Association continues to build upon this proud history today.

NPAQ also brings together people who share an appreciation for national parks and the vital role they play in conserving our unique natural environment. NPAQ also offers a wide range of volunteering opportunities.

Our purpose is achieved through:

- Advocating for the protection, expansion and good management of national parks
- Fostering the appreciation and enjoyment of nature through bushwalking, birdwatching and outdoor activities programs
- Undertaking on-ground conservation and monitoring work
- Educating the community about national parks and their benefits
- Supporting the development and application of scientific and professional knowledge in advancing national parks and nature conservation

Whilst many advances have been made in the protection of our natural areas since our founding days, conservation lands remain vulnerable to contestation for competing land uses.

It is only with your support NPAQ is able to work towards achieving our missions.
